A partnership between St. James UMC and Church of the Resurrection You must love your neighbor as you love yourself. Matthew 22:39

Pray for Peace in Ukraine

God of Mercy, we pray for Ukraine. We pray for Russia.

We pray for all of humanity distorted by war. For all the lives lost, homes destroyed and people displaced.

May the Spirit of comfort and compassion envelop all who dwell in fear.

May the Spirit of wisdom and humility guide our global leaders.

May we affirm the dignity and rights of all. May we seek justice and peace.

Gracious God, bring your perfect love into our broken world.

This we ask in the name of your blessed Son. Lord have mercy. Amen.

Step Out of Your Comfort Zone

In his book, "Love Your Enemies: How Decent People Can Save America from the Culture of Contempt", author Arthur Brooks, asserts that anger serves an important purpose – it can motivate us to resolve conflicts. Contempt, on the other hand, is harmful because it means that the person or group you are directing the contempt to is worthless and beneath even caring about.

His premise is that the current polarization in our country is a result of combining anger and contempt which results in disgust. Disgust causes you to believe the person is not even worth caring about, so you write them off and don't take the time to truly understand someone else's opinion if it's radically different than our own. And in doing so, it becomes impossible to solve conflicts about the difficult subjects of race, religion and politics.

One of the recommendations Brooks makes to help us learn how to productively engage in discussions about difficult subjects is to regularly get out of our comfort zone to learn from others who are not like us. Allies for Racial Justice has many learning opportunities to support this quest. Those who have participated in ARJ small groups and events say they have become much better equipped to talk with friends and family about subjects they previously avoided. Check our website for upcoming events, classes and other resources. Allies for Racial Justice: Home https://alliesforracialjustice.org

If you have participated in some of our ARJ events, we would love to hear what new learnings you have experienced and how this has affected your spiritual development. Feel free to email susan.dimick2@gmail.com to share your experiences. We'd like to work them into future newsletter articles.

Another ARJ Live Theatre Performance The Royale Sunday, March 20 - 2:00PM KC Rep's Copaken Stage

Don't miss this knockout, award-winning play! It's about a boxer, but not really about boxing. ARJ is pleased to offer a limited number of $30 discounted tickets so that we can enjoy this live performance together. Invite your small group, your family or friends. But hurry – tickets must be purchased by March 18th.

The Royale is inspired by the real-life experiences of Jack Johnson, the first African-American heavyweight champion of the world. It is about the life of the outsider. Set in the midst of the 1950s Jim Crow era, it explores one man's struggle, while at the same time reflecting much broader ones. Appropriate for ages 14+.

The KC Rep's Copaken Stage is located inside the H&R Block headquarters building in downtown KCMO at 1 H&R Block Way (Power & Light District). Parking is available for theatre patrons beneath the building. For more information and mask and vaccination requirement policies, go to https://kcrep.org/event/the-royale/

Getting to Know Our Partner Churches Better

Forging authentic relationships to eliminate the existing racial divide in our communities and churches.

Let's Share Our Lenten Experiences

If you haven't signed up for a Lenten study yet, please consider what a great growth opportunity might await you at our partner churches. If you are a COR member – please sign up for a St. James Lenten study group. Or if you are a St. James member, please sign up for a COR Lenten study. You could also alternate Sunday services at each other's location, in person or online/YouTube. Then hold discussions with family and friends about the things you didn't know that you didn't know! Check these links for more information on classes and activities during the Lenten season:

Nelson-Atkins Museum of Art Testimony Exhibit – Closing March 27

Testimony embodies the power of speaking one's own truth and of being called to stand in witness. The joint work of telling and receiving truth lays the foundations for community. This exhibition features the testimonies of more than three dozen local artists through their art. The museum was honored to invite the Kansas City-based African American Artists Collective to collaborate on this exhibition. Don't miss seeing it. For more information go to https://www.nelson-atkins.org/exhibitions/testimony/

Preserving Our Past Kansas City Stories of Black History

Watch the 27-minute PBS video – "Preserving our Past: Kansas City Stories of Black History". It features 5 topics and their historical impact on Kansas City. The five topics are the origins of the AME church, the establishment of birthing centers, a lynching in Kansas City of a man who was later proved innocent, two women who helped integrate South Park Elementary School in the 1940's, and two World War

I soldiers who should have received a medal of honor but did not. To watch it online click HERE
